Volume 58 Index

Authors and Articles

Arons, S. Constitutional implications of national curriculum standards. 58(4): 353–64.

Barrow, G. See Stafford

Bates, P., and T. Y. Wilson. Final thoughts on alternative schooling. 58(3): 332–35.

Beasley, W. P. The Connection Center: A dropout reentry program. 58(3): 306–14.

Boss, J. A., and K. D. Wurtz. Are mandatory school attendance laws inherently unjust? 58(3): 264–75.

Bower, B. History Alive! An alternative program for engaging diverse learners. 58(3): 315–22.

Branch, R. C., Y. Goodwin, and J. Gualtieri. Making classroom instruction culturally pluralistic. 58(1): 57–70.

Cheek, C. M. See Cheek, D. H.

Cheek, D. H., and C. M. Cheek. What's in a name? Moral education and terminological precision. 58(1): 22–27.

Cook, G. E. See Martinello

Darling, J. Summerhill: From Neill to the nineties. 58(3): 244–51.

Dill, V. S. Teacher education in Texas: A new paradigm. 58(2): 147–54.

Edelfelt, R. A. Final thoughts on alternative certification. 58(2): 220–21.

Elster, C., P. Linehan, P. Weiss, and C. Zangari. Building (the) New Community (School). 58(3): 290–98.

Feistritzer, C. E. The evolution of alternative teacher certification. 58(2): 132–38.

Foster, S. The painful lessons of introducing the national curriculum in England. 58(4): 374–77.

Fulk, B. M., P. Y. Mantzicopoulos, and M. A. Hirth. Arguments against national performance standards. 58(4): 365–73.

Galardi, R. A. Community High School: An alternative. 58(3): 299–305.

Gatto, J. T. The tyranny of compulsory schooling. 58(3): 276–81.

Goodwin, Y. See Branch

Greene, M. The arts and national standards. 58(4): 391–400.

Greenfield, T. A. Year-round education: A case for change. 58(3): 252–62.

Gualtieri, J. See Branch

Haberman, M. Preparing teachers for the real world of urban schools. 58(2): 162–68.

Hillis, M. Multicultural education and curriculum transformation. 58(1): 50–56.

Hirth, M. A. See Fulk

Horine, J. Improving the educational system through Deming's systems theory. 58(1): 30–35.

Howey, K. R., and N. L. Zimpher. Nontraditional contexts for learning to teach. 58(2): 155–61.

Hudolin-Gabin, J. Lessons from Catholic schools: Promoting quality in Chicago's public schools. 58(3): 282–88.

Kaplan, L. Teacher certification: Collaborative reform. 58(2): 169–72.

Keltner, D. P. Troops to teachers: Alternative certification and the military. 58(2): 182–86.

Kennedy, E. M. On the common core of learning. 58(4): 348–52.

Knauth, S. Teachers for Chicago: Changing the connections. 58(2): 208–13.

Knowles, J. G., J. A. Muchmore, and H. W. Spaulding. Home education as an alternative to institutionalized education. 58(3): 238–43.

Kopp, W. Teach For America: Moving beyond the debate. 58(2): 187–92.

Ladson-Billings, G. Watching a naked emperor: A critique of national standards efforts. 58(4): 401–8.

Linehan, P. See Elster

Mantzicopoulos, P. Y. See Fulk

Martinello, M. L., and G. E. Cook. The interdisciplinary qualities of inquiry. 58(1): 36–47.

McKibbin, M., and L. Ray. A guide for alternative certification program inprovement. 58(2): 201–8.

Mohl, R. A. The culture wars and the universities. 58(1): 15–21.

Muchmore, J. A. See Knowles

Nieto, S. What are our children capable of knowing? 58(4): 434–40.

Ornstein, A. C. A message to the president. 58(1): 12–14.

Ray, L. See McKibbin

Regional Laboratory for Educational Improvement in the Northeast & Islands, The. Status report on voluntary national standards. 58(4): 421–28.

Spaulding, H. W. See Knowles

Stafford, D., and G. Barrow. Houston's alternative certification program. 58(2): 193–200.
Steffensen, J. Certification: The past as prelude. 58(2): 126–31.
Tate, W. F. Mathematics standards and urban education: Is this the road to recovery? 58(4): 380–90.
Toeppen, T. H. Is all education really self-education? 58(1): 77–85.
Torres-Guzmán, M. E. Language minorities: Moving from the periphery to the center? 58(4): 409–20.
Townsend, R. D. Even a good education gives rise to problems. 58(1): 72–76.
Weiss, P. See Elster
Willis, P. L. Staffing our schools. 58(2): 173–79.
Wilson, T. Y. See Bates
Wise, A. E. Choosing between professionalism and amateurism. 58(2): 139–46.
Wurtz, K. D. See Boss
Zangari, C. See Elster
Zimpher, N. L. See Howey

Book Reviews

The American university: How it runs, where it is going, 2d. ed., by Jacques Barzun. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1992. Reviewed by James L. Tully. 58(4): 430–31.
Beyond silenced voices: Class, race, and gender in United States schools, edited by L. Weis and M. Fine. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1993. Reviewed by T. Jennings. 58(1): 88–92.
Educational administration in a pluralistic society, edited by C. A. Capper. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1993. Reviewed by M. Umphrey. 58(1): 100–103.
The educational messiah complex: American faith in the culturally redemptive power of schooling by S. W. Reitman. Sacramento: Caddo Gap Press, 1992. Reviewed by N. Prince-Cohen. 58(3): 330–31.
Getting smart: Feminist research and pedagogy with/in the postmodern by P. Lather. New York: Routledge, 1991. Reviewed by S. E. Brockman and R. M. González. 58(1): 93–95.
National issues in education: The past is prologue, edited by J. F. Jennings. Bloomington, Ind.: Phi Delta Kappa and the Institute for Educational Leadership, 1993. Reviewed by T. H. Gill. 58(1): 96–97.
Nongradedness: Helping it to happen by R. H. Anderson and B. N. Pavan. Lancaster, Pa.: Technomic, 1993. Reviewed by J. D. Marshall. 58(3): 324–25.
Pretending at home: Early development in a sociocultural context by W. L. Haight and P. J. Miller. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1993. Reviewed by G. Wenner. 58(3): 328–29.
The state of the nation's public schools, edited by S. Elam. Bloomington, Ind.: Phi Delta Kappa, 1993. Reviewed by A. W. Steller. 58(4): 432–33.
The teacher as expert: A theoretical and historical examination by R. Welker. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1992. Reviewed by A. F. Readshaw. 58(2): 216–17.
Teacher self-evaluation: Teachers in their own mirrors by L. Kremer-Hayon. Boston/Dordrecht/London: Kulwar Academic Publishers, 1993. Reviewed by M. Haberman. 58(2): 218–19.
To be one of us: Cultural conflict, creative democracy, and education by N. Warehime. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1993. Reviewed by T. J. Lasley. 58(1): 98–99.
What are schools for? Holistic education in American culture by R. Miller. Brandon, Vt.: Holistic Education Press, 1992. Reviewed by W. A. Reinsmith. 58(3): 326–27.

Note: Page numbers in boldface indicate a chart, diagram, or figure.

A

African Americans, and school mathematics, 383, 386, 388; testing and racial discrimination, 88

Agenda for Action, An, mathematics reform program, 381 alternative certification, 220–23; alternative to state licensure, 140–41; evolution of, 134–35, 137; some approaches to, viewed as poor solutions, 142–44. See also alternative certification programs and alternative teacher preparation alternative certification programs, addressing some shortages of qualified teachers, 204, 206; in California, 201–8; guide to program improvement, 201–8; Houston (see Houston's alternative certification program); improving instruction in, 202–4; increasing numbers of teachers from underrepresented groups, 206; justifications for continuing to implement, 204–5; master's degree programs in schools of education, 140; measuring teacher competence, 204; and the military, 182-86 (see also Fast Track Teacher Certification Program; Texas Military Teacher Initiative [TMI]); outline for improving, 203; placement of teachers in hard-to-staff schools, 204; staying power of, 132. See also Texas alternative certification program alternative schooling, and the democratic process, 300–305; and dissatisfaction with public schools, 240–41, 299, 332–35. See also Community High School (Ann Arbor, Michigan); home education; New Community School (Lafayette, Indiana); Summerhill School (England)

alternative teacher preparation, 155–60

American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACTE), 129

America 2000, and the arts, 391–92, 396; goals of, 409; mathematics standards, 383; and Sandia Report on SAT scores, 371. See also Goals 2000

Anti-Intellectualism in American Life (Hofstadter), 18–19

Art as Experience (Dewey), 396

Association of Teacher Education (ATE), 170, 172

at-risk students, effects of national standards on, 366–68

B

Banks, J. A., approaches to integrating ethnic content into curriculum, 61–63, 62–63

BellSouth Foundation, corporate funder of education improvement, 173–79

Bilingual Education Act, 417

C

Catholic schools, and advantages for minority students, 285–86; and common core curriculum, 284–86; success of, in teaching urban students, 282–88

Chicago Neighborhood Organization Project (CNOP), school reform program, 283–84

child abuse, in homes and schools, 271–72 classroom strategies, alternative, for teaching history, 316–21

Closing of the American Mind, The (Bloom), 16–17; 98–99 colleges and universities, administration of, 430–31; building relationships with schools, 159, 212–13; and culture wars, 15; five principles of excellence for faculty, 165; and traditional knowledge, 16–17

Community High School (Ann Arbor), an alternative school, 299–305; curriculum and instruction in, 302–4; democratic processes used in, 301–5; ownership of and participation in, 304–5; philosophy and goals of, 300–301 competency-based teacher education, 128–29 compulsory schooling, and the concept of mass man, 280–81; contempory justification of, 266–67; original objectives of, 239, 267; and Prussian theory of schools, 276–81. See also mandatory education; mandatory school attendance

Connection Center (Minneapolis), curriculum of, 310; dropout reentry program of, 306–13; problems and demographics of students, 309–10; recruitment and marketing, 309

Council of the Great City Schools (CGCS), and urban school needs, 416

Cultural Literacy: What Every American Needs to Know (Hirsch), 16–17, 394–95 cultural pluralism, incorporating, into existing instruction, 57–69; specific strategies for incorporation of, 66–69 culture, as a criteria for silencing student voices, 90–91 culture wars, and society, 19; and universities, 15–20 curriculum, Banks's approaches to, 61, 62–63; common core, in Catholic schools, 282–83, 284–86; community-based, 302–3; designing a core, 349; geared to students' skills, 310; incorporating multicultural perspective into, 58, 66–69; innovative, and instruction, 302–4; integrating ethnic content into, 61–65, 62, 63; need for reform of, 53–55; political nature of, 98–99
Curriculum and Evaluation Standards for School Mathematics, 381, 384

D

Deming, W. E., general systems theory, 32; improving educational system with "14 Points," 30–34; theory of profound knowledge, 30, 33–34
Dennison, G., and compulsory school attendance,267
Dewey, J., democracy and schools, 266; and judgment on artistic works, 396 discipline-based art education (DBAE), 392, 395 diversity, and pluralism, 58–59; in teaching force, 158. See also cultural pluralism; multicultural education dropout reentry program. See Connection Center (Minneapolis) dropouts, association of, with grade repetition, 367; Latino, rates, 415; and an unjust merit system, 88–89. See also Connection Center (Minneapolis)

E

education, Eurocentric perspective of, 54–55; gifted students, programs, 89; inequities in merit-based, 88–90; national issues in, 96–97; past efforts to restructure, 126–29; role of, in issues of masculinity, 90; as a system, 32; understanding good, and values, 74–76 educational funding, 97; and fiscal inequities, 370, 384–85 educational process, students affected by silencing structures in, 88–92 educational reform, context and content, 436; and technology, 351–52 educational research, 97; pretending, 328–29
Elementary and Secondary Education Act, 348, 351; and opportunity-to-learn standards, 412
Enemies of Society (Johnson), 23. See also moral education
English National Curriculum, 374–77; and the teaching profession, 375–77

F

Fast Track Teacher Certification Program, army pilot project in Georgia, 184 federal government, role in education, 12–13, 348–52; suggested education agenda for, 13, 14. See also America 2000; Goals 2000
fine and performing arts, intuitive thinking, 41–42

G

global economy, and national curriculum content standards, 359, 362; and quality of public education, 126–27, 131
Goals 2000, 348–52; content standards, 350, 353–54; and continuing teacher education, 348, 350, 362–63; contrast of, with English National Curriculum, 374; federal education aid and opportunity-to-learn standards, 387–88; goals for students, 349, 409; and national curriculum, 350, 353–54, 357–62; and need for education bill of rights, 361–62; voluntary standards of, 350, 352, 354

H

Harris, W. T., and compulsory schooling, 278–80 higher education, administration, 430–31 History Alive!, 315–16, 321. See also Teachers' Curriculum Institute (TCI) holistic education, as an educational remedy, 326–27 home education, advantages for children, 267, 269, 270–71; as an alternative option, 238–41; historical context of, 238–40; rationales for, 241–42 home schooling, population estimates, 238, 270; two basic groups of parents who engage in, 240–42 Houston's alternative certification program, 148, 193–200; backgrounds of interns, 197; first local school district model, 148, 193–94, 196; four essential components of, 194; intern training, 194–96; local research findings, 196–97; outline of process to certification, 198–99; screening and preassignment training, 194; today's program, 194–96 humanities, analytic and affective modes of thinking, 43–44

I

Indian Nations at Risk Task Force, goals for Native Americans and Alaskan Native students, 416–17 inquiry, different modes of thought, 40-44; exploring, in different fields of study, 37–39, 40–44; influences of, 44–45; interdisciplinary qualities of, 36–37, 46; products of, 45

K

knowledge, 435–36; background, 395; legitimate, 415; official, 413; production of, 407; theory of profound, 30, 33–34

L

language, and culture in public schooling, 356; necessity for precise use of terms, 22–27 language-minority students, and curriculum and assessment efforts, 412–13; demographics of, 410–11; and knowledge about education of bilinguals that is ignored, 414–16; and power relationships, 90
Latino Commission on Educational Reform (LCER), 414–15
Latinos, diversity among, 410–11 literary arts, linguistic intelligence, 40–41 low-achieving students, effects of national performance standards on, 367–68

M

mandatory education, for people of all ages, 273–74. See also compulsory schooling mandatory school attendance, and democracy, 266–69; history of, laws, 264–66; and notion of paternalism, 269–72
Mann, H., and mandatory attendance laws, 265; and Prussian theory of school, 279–80 mathematics, college prep and remedial, 383–84; importance of logic and symbols, 42–43; and new curriculum standards, 380–88; performance assessement of, 385–88; and systemic reform, 381–87 mentors, 210–12
minority students, and achievement outcomes in Catholic schools, 285–86; language, and power relationships, 90 minority teachers, declining proportion of, in teaching force, 137; increase in number of, through alternative certification programs, 137, 153, 175 moral authority, 98–99 moral education, 22–27; need for careful and specific use of terms in, 22–27 moral relativism, 98; in society, 22 multicultural education, and curriculum transformation, 50–56; ethnic additive model of, 51–52; ethnonational model of, 52–53; and the issue of legitimate knowledge, 415–16; mainstream centric model of, 50–51; multicultural model of, 52; in the twenty-first century, 55
Music Educators' National Conference (MENC), 391

N

National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP), 383–84, 394–95
National Assessment Governing Board, 391
National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS), 404–5
National Center for Education Information (NCEI), classification system of alternative certification, 135, 136; recent study by, 188–89
National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), projection of teacher shortage, 133–34
National Commission on Excellence in Education, 365, 401
National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), new standards of, 141–42
National Council for Social Studies (NCSS), and development of social studies standards, 405–7 National Council of Teachers of Mathematics (NCTM), 382, 384–85; standards development of, 406 national curriculum, (U.S.), an alternative to, 362–63; a restructuring of education, 358–62; as a threat to constitutional freedoms, 353–61. See also English National Curriculum
National Defense Education Act (NDEA), 127
National Education Goals, 348–49, 354. See also America 2000, Goals 2000
National Education Goals Panel, 354
National Education Standards and Improvement Council, 350, 354
National Endowment for the Arts (NEA), 19

National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), 1992 annual report (Telling the Truth), 15–16.
National Skill Standards Board, 350 national standards, (U.S.), 354, 365–72; alternative to, 371–72; and the arts, 391–400; effect of, on classroom children, 401–8; effect on curriculum and instruction, 368; effect on teachers, 369–70; and equal opportunity, 412; and fiscal impact on school districts, 370–71; implications of, 436–40; negative effects of, 365–72; Status Report, 422–28
natural and social sciences, intuitive processes and analyses of findings, 43
Neill, A. S., on society, love, and natural development, 245–48. See also Summerhill School
New Community School (Lafayette), founding of, an alternative school, 290–98; and importance of community, 290–92, 294–95, 298; philosophy statement of, 293–94 new lifestyles, and change of values, 72–74 nongradedness, definition of, 324; self-help manual for, 324–25
North Carolina Center for the Advancement of Teaching, 178

O

Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI), 97

P

parents, founding of an alternative school, 290–98; and home schools, 240–42 postsecondary education, 96–97
Professional Standards for Teaching Mathematics, 381, 385
ProfScam (Sykes), 17–18
public education, proposals for salvation of, 126 public schools, initial objectives of, 239; issues concerning, today, 432–33; management of, by private sector, 130–31; racism in, 267–69; reconstruction of, in a pluralistic society, 100–103

R

racism, in schools, 267–69
research, and connection between theory and practice, 93–95 school choice, and Michigan education reform, 304–5; and protection of school diversity, 355–56; rights to, 354–55, 362

S

School Curriculum and Assessment Authority (SCAA), 375 school reform, 96; government funding for, 350; nongradedness, 324–25; through local staffs, 173–79 schools, academic standards for, 348–51; extra-year practices of, 366; necessity to perceive, as part of a system, 30–34; and new roles in recruiting and developing teaching professionals, 191–92; and racism, 267–69; reform of, through local staffs, 173–79; in the twenty-first century, 174, 178 school-university collaboration, collective effort for alternatives in teacher education, 159–60 self-education, availability and selection of learning materials for, 79–81; basic elements of, 78–85; the learning process, 83; output elements of skills and knowledge, 80–81; in preschool, school, and post-school, 81–82 sex education, silencing structure through school-based, 89–90 special-needs students, effects of national performance standards on, 368 standardized tests, results of home-educated children, 270; use and abuse of, 368–69 students, as customers of educational system, 33; effects of national performance standards on, 366–68; gifted, education programs, 89
Summerhill: A Radical Approach to Child-Rearing (Neill), 245
Summerhill School (England), archetypical alternative school, 244–51; in the present, 248 system reform, and standards movement, 403–4

T

TEACH!, 192
teacher(s), guidelines for, to promote cultural sensitivity, 59–61, 64; professional development of, 178, 189–90; professional development programs for, 348; self-analysis prior to presenting multicultural perspective, 54; and setting of standards, 404–5, 407; unrealistic demands of society on, 330–31 teacher as expert, defining expertise in education, 216–17 teacher certification, and federal legislation, 130; and higher standards for, requirements, 141; traditional, 132, 139–40.

See also alternative teacher certification
Teacher Corps (TC), 128–29 teacher education, alternatives in, 159–60; centrality of the school in, 176–79; coaching in, 166–67; and correlation to teacher effectiveness, 143–44; evaluation of, programs, 167–68; higher preparation standards for, 144–45; improving the quality of, 156–58; to prepare teachers for urban schools, 162–68; principles of excellence for faculty of, 165; professional collaboration in, 170–71; public opinion on, 144–45; reform of, 171–72, 174, 176–79. See also alternative teacher preparation teacher professionalism, movement toward, 141–42 Teachers' Curriculum Institute (TCI), classroom strategies, 316-21; innovative instructional practices of, 315–21; tenets underlying curriculum, 315–16 teacher self-evaluation, linking teaching and self, 218–19 Teachers for Chicago (TFC), and emerging relationships, 209–13; mentor-intern relationships, 210–12; relationships between universities and schools, 212 teacher training, theories borrowed from Prussians, 278–79 Teach for America, as an alternative form of preparation, 175–78; recruitment and selection of teachers for urban and rural schools, 188–92; teacher preparation, 189–91 teaching force, need for more diverse, 158 technology, 430–31, societal change due to, 74
Ten Commandments, as a base for education, 72–76
Texas alternative certification programs, candidate selection process, 150–53; competencies determine curriculum in, 148–49; minorities and midcareer professionals in, 153; tailoring programs to local needs, 149; three models developed in, 149–50
Texas Military Teacher Initiative (TMI), army pilot teacher training network, 183
Title I, focus on schools serving children of low-income families, 128–29, 185 Troops to Teachers, 182–86, 207.
twenty-first century, continuing teacher development in, 178–79; demographic projections for, 37, 55, 57; and move toward post-material values, 73-75; multicultural education in, 55

U

urban schools, changing demographics of, 380–81; and fiscal equity, 384–85, 386–88; preparing teachers for, 162–68; and underserved children, 380–88

V

values education, 24–25
violent crime, in public schools, 271–72

Y

year-round education, 252–61; characteristics of, 252–54; costs of, 253, 259–60, 259, 261; intersession classes in, 253, 255; and major change efforts, 254–55, 260–61; pros and cons of, 252–53, 258; test score and academic achievement data, 255–57, 256